

Bistable Multivibrator:

- has two absolute stable states
- can stay in one of two states indefinitely
- change of state take place when it receives negative triggering pulse from outside for the first time
- when it receives another trigger pulse, only then it goes back to its original state.

Circuit

output

